Foreign Policy Discussion Held

ELKO, Feb. 16. (Special)—An analysis of U. S. foreign policy as related to the cold war was discussed by Joe Littlefield before a gathering of Elko Toastmasters, their ladies and guests, in the Roundup Room of the Stockmen's Hotel Saturday evening.

Recently returned from Korea, where he was employed as an engineer by private industry, Mr. Littlefield is a native of Elko, a graduate engineer from the University of Nevada and a former employe of the U. S. Central Intelligence.

In his talk on the cold war, Mr. Littlefield said in his opinion our present policy would cause the United States to lose the cold war to Russia. He explained the Communist methods of pursuing territorial objectives, as illustrated in China, Korea and certain European countries, and pointed out that the continuing spread of Communism showed our present foreign policy to be ineffective. He warned against the possible recognition of the People's Republic of China by the United States, and urged to those present that they should express an opinion against such recognition to their congressional representatives.

Preceding Mr. Littlefield's talk, the Toastmasters and guests each expressed an opinion on the evening's table topic, "Should a Woman Be President of the United States?" The table topic was presented by Dr. Joe Ingersoll. The meeting was conducted by club President Robert Carleson.
